

CVAI x Nike Girls EYBL 14U

Friday Recap Scouting Report • New Orleans Session 2

Friday's opening slate in New Orleans revealed elite guard play, highly efficient transition offense, and increasingly sophisticated team spacing across the 14U division. Multiple teams surpassed 60% field goal efficiency while several lead guards emerged as true two-way engines capable of impacting pace, creation, and defensive disruption simultaneously.

Top Prospect Performances

Player	Key Metrics	Scout Notes
Khloey Eckman	24.5 PPG • 4.5 APG • 3.5 SPG	Dynamic scoring guard with pace control and defensive pressure.
Kendall Croom	19.0 PPG • 6.0 RPG • 4.5 APG	Versatile creator impacting every statistical category.
R. Brown	18.5 PPG • 6.5 RPG • 4.0 APG	Complete two-way production and transition activity.
A. Phillips	5.5 SPG	Elite event-level defensive disruption and anticipation.
A. Owalla	4.0 BPG	High-level rim protection and paint presence.

Team Evaluation Notes

All Iowa Attack posted one of the strongest offensive performances of the event, shooting above 84% from the field in Friday action while consistently generating paint touches and clean perimeter looks.

AB Elite showcased advanced offensive structure with 61% overall shooting, strong spacing concepts, and multiple creators operating comfortably in transition and halfcourt situations.

Cal Storm - Team Taurasi demonstrated efficient interior scoring and excellent shot selection, finishing above 61% from the field with balanced scoring production across the lineup.

Hoop Nerd Elite vs Kentucky Premier produced one of the highest-level competitive environments of the day, featuring efficient guard play, shotmaking under pressure, and multiple late-game momentum swings.

Friday Trends

- Transition pace and pressure defense continue to define the 14U division.
- Multiple teams displayed advanced spacing and early read-and-react concepts.
- Guard depth across the field appears significantly improved compared to prior sessions.
- Defensive playmakers are heavily influencing tempo and possession volume.
- Offensive efficiency and perimeter confidence were major differentiators Friday.

CourtVision AI Analytics

Advanced scouting, live analytics, and event intelligence for Nike Girls EYBL.